Canadian Army Veterinary Corps

Introduction

Each division in France had a mobile veterinary section and in addition, there was a veterinary hospital and a veterinary evacuating station in that country to care for approximately 24,000 horses. There was as well a veterinary hospital at Shorncliffe but, most of the sick animals were evacuated to Imperial veterinary hospitals.

Mobile veterinary sections provided first aid treatment for sick and wounded animals and the veterinary evacuating station served as a casualty clearing station through which the animals were evacuated to the base for treatment.
